Popular San Francisco Vocalist, Dina Rao, Teams Up With Walz Music and Successful Dance Producers for her Release of Etta James' "At Last."

San Francisco, CA June 1st, 2012

Northern California native, Dina Rao, has performed in such notable clubs as Slim's, Red Devil Lounge, Top of the Mark, Bruno's, Martuni's, Rassela's, Pier 23 and the Fillmore Jazz Festival. Her musical influences include Ann Wilson, Dinah Washington, Adele and Etta James, whose song "At Last" was the catalyst for producing this project.

She has teamed up with San Francisco company, Walz Music & Sound, an audio production studio primarily for social, casual, and mobile games as well as a production house for recording artists. Dina contributes her vocals and voiceover talents to the company.

Several remixers participated including Wolfram Dettki, former Tommy Boy producer and hit songwriter for dance music artist, Amber. Also involved is Denis Curman, Croatian producer of the #1 hit in Japan by Impression, "Nama Biru," and previous producer for Croatian star, Nina Badrić. There is also an acoustic mix featuring piano by Dr. Dee Spencer, who is a professor of music and Department Chair of Music and Dance at San Francisco State University. The other two tracks are provided by Jesse "Maxi" Holt, and Nick Hemler of Paradise Last.

The release becomes available on June 5th, 2012, and will be available in physical CD form and digital download directly via www.walzmusic.com, iTunes, Amazon, and other partners. Dina Rao and Dr. Dee Spencer can be found performing, among other places, at their weekly show at Martuni's piano bar in San Francisco on Saturdays from 9pm-1am. Dina Rao will be having a CD release party on Thursday June 28th from 7pm-8:30pm at Martuni's, located at 4 Valencia Street in San Francisco. For more information, visit www.dinarao.com.
